

Abdul Mannan Shahid <abdulmannanshahid278@gmail.com>

TCPA TABLES

Betsy Vazquez <vip@guardianmarketingny.com>

Thu, Oct 1, 2026 at 4:12 AM

To: Bibi Singh <bsingh@autopulse.ai>, abdulmannanshahid278@gmail.com

PLEASE USE BOTH TABLES

TABLE 1:

State	Live-call window	Sundays & holidays	Cite
Alabama	8 a.m.–8 p.m.	No calls on Sundays or holidays	Ala. Admin. Code r. 770-X-5-.17
Alaska	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Arizona	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Arkansas	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.) — no stricter state hours rule verified	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
California	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Colorado	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Connecticut	9 a.m.–8 p.m. for telephonic sales calls	None	Conn. Gen. Stat. § 42-288a(c) (PA 23-98)
Delaware	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Florida	8 a.m.–8 p.m.; max 3 calls per 24 hours on the same subject	None beyond the daily window	Fla. Stat. § 501.616(6)
Georgia	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Hawaii	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Idaho	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Illinois	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)

State	Live-call window	Sundays & holidays	Cite
Indiana	Federal default for live calls; 9 a.m.–8 p.m. for autodialed (ADAD) calls	None verified	Ind. Code § 24-5-14-8 (ADAD)
Iowa	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Kansas	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Kentucky	10 a.m.–9 p.m. — latest start in the country	None	KRS 367.46955(16)
Louisiana	8 a.m.–8 p.m., Monday–Saturday	No calls on Sundays or legal holidays	LPSC DNC General Order R-29617 § V(A)(2); La. R.S. 45:811 (autodialers)
Maine	Federal default for live calls; automated devices: weekdays 9 a.m.–5 p.m., max 1 call per number per 8 hours	None verified for live calls	10 M.R.S. § 1498(3) (automated)
Maryland	8 a.m.–8 p.m. for telephone solicitations, plus max 3 solicitations per 24 hours on the same subject	None	Md. Com. Law § 14-4502(c) (Stop the Spam Calls Act)
Massachusetts	8 a.m.–8 p.m.	None	201 CMR 12.02(2)
Michigan	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Minnesota	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Mississippi	8 a.m.–8 p.m. (strictest reading of its two statutes)	No Sunday calls	Miss. Code §§ 77-3-603, 77-3-723
Missouri	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Montana	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Nebraska	Federal default for live calls; 8 a.m.–9 p.m. for ADAD calls (matches federal)	None verified	Neb. Rev. Stat. § 86-248(1) (a) (ADAD)
Nevada	9 a.m.–8 p.m. for solicitation calls to Nevada residences	None	NRS 598.0918(3)
New Hampshire	Federal default — state telemarketing law has no hours rule	None	N.H. RSA ch. 359-E (no hours provision)

State	Live-call window	Sundays & holidays	Cite
New Jersey	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
New Mexico	9 a.m.–9 p.m.	None	NMSA § 57-12-22(B)(5)
New York	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	None; separate ban on unsolicited calls into declared emergency areas	N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 399-z(2), (5-a)
North Carolina	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
North Dakota	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (matches federal; also covers autodialed calls)	No Sunday or holiday ban in current law	N.D.C.C. § 51-28-05
Ohio	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Oklahoma	8 a.m.–8 p.m.; max 3 calls per 24 hours on the same subject	None	15 O.S. § 775C.4(A)
Oregon	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Pennsylvania	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	No Sunday rule verified in the statute	73 P.S. § 2245(a)(1)
Rhode Island	Mon–Fri 9 a.m.–6 p.m.; Sat 10 a.m.–5 p.m.	No calls on Sundays or state/federal holidays	R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 5-61-2(2), 5-61-3.6
South Carolina	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	None	S.C. Code § 37-21-30
South Dakota	9 a.m.–9 p.m.	No Sunday calls	SDCL 37-30A-3(2)
Tennessee	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Texas	9 a.m.–9 p.m., Monday–Saturday	Sundays: noon–9 p.m. only	Tex. Bus. & Com. Code § 301.051
Utah	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	None	Utah Code § 13-25a-103
Vermont	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Virginia	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	None	Va. Code § 59.1-511
Washington	8 a.m.–8 p.m.	None	RCW 80.36.390(8)

State	Live-call window	Sundays & holidays	Cite
West Virginia	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)
Wisconsin	8 a.m.–9 p.m. (state law matches federal)	None	Wis. Admin. Code ATCP 127.16(3)
Wyoming	8 a.m.–8 p.m.	None	Wyo. Stat. § 40-12-302(d)
Washington, D.C.	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)*	None identified*	16 C.F.R. § 310.4(c)

*Rows marked with an asterisk were not individually verified for stricter state rules in this research pass — “none identified as of July 2026” is a research status, not a legal conclusion. Confirm with counsel before treating a federal-default row as final.

TABLE 2

State (law)	Autodialer / consent standard	Hours & frequency	Private suit	Cite
Florida (FTSA, 2021; amended May 25, 2023)	PEWC for automated selection and dialing or recorded message	8 a.m.–8 p.m.; 3 calls/24 h same subject (Telemarketing Act)	$500 or actual damages; treble to $1,500 for willful/knowing	Fla. Stat. §§ 501.059, 501.616(6)
Oklahoma (Telephone Solicitation Act, eff. Nov. 1, 2022)	PEWC for automated selection or dialing or recorded message	8 a.m.–8 p.m.; 3 calls/24 h same subject	$500 or actual damages; up to treble for willful/knowing	15 O.S. §§ 775C.1–775C.6
Maryland (Stop the Spam Calls Act, eff. Jan. 1, 2024)	PEWC for automated selection or dialing or recorded/artificial voice — calls, texts, voicemail	8 a.m.–8 p.m.; 3 solicitations/24 h same subject	Indirect — via Maryland Consumer Protection Act (actual damages + fees)	Md. Com. Law §§ 14-4501–14-4503
Connecticut (PA 23-98, eff. Oct. 1, 2023)	PEWC default for telephonic sales calls — live, automated, recorded, soundboard, text — with wide carve-outs	9 a.m.–8 p.m.; 10-second disclosure and hang-up rules	Indirect — via CUTPA; fines up to $20,000 per violation	Conn. Gen. Stat. §§ 42-284, 42-288a
Washington (Robocall Scam	No consent trigger; 30-second identification, 10-	8 a.m.–8 p.m.	$1,000 per individual violation,	RCW 80.36.390;

State (law)	Autodialer / consent standard	Hours & frequency	Private suit	Cite
Protection Act, 2022)	second hang-up, 1-year DNC honor		for repeated violations	RCW 19.158.040
Virginia (Telephone Privacy Protection Act)	Texts to Virginia numbers covered; first-and-last-name identification; 31-day national-registry scrub	8 a.m.–9 p.m.	Greater of actual damages or $500 (1st), $1,000 (2nd), $5,000 (each later)	Va. Code §§ 59.1-510 to 59.1-518
Texas (chs. 302–305; SB 140 eff. Sept. 1, 2025)	No consent trigger; registration ($200 + $10,000 security) + combined no-call list; texts included since Sept. 1, 2025	No general curfew in chs. 302–305 (separate Texas hour rules exist)	$500 per violation; up to $1,500/treble for knowing — includes federal TCPA violations	Tex. Bus. & Com. Code chs. 302–305
Arizona (registration regime)	No state dialer or consent standard beyond federal law; annual registration + $100,000 bond	Federal default (8 a.m.–9 p.m.)	None in the act — Attorney General enforcement	A.R.S. §§ 44-1271 to 44-1278
New Jersey (Do Not Call Law, 2003)	No consent trigger; registration + state list built from the national registry; outright ban on unsolicited sales calls to cell phones	No calls 9 p.m.–8 a.m.	No express private right — CFA suits require ascertainable loss	N.J.S.A. 56:8-119 to 56:8-135

“Selection AND Dialing” vs. “Selection OR Dialing”

The highest-stakes word on this page is a conjunction. Florida’s FTSA originally required consent for calls using an automated system for the “selection or dialing” of numbers; HB 761, effective May 25, 2023, narrowed the trigger to systems that do both — selection and dialing — and added a 15-day text-message safe harbor (reply “STOP”; suit lies only for texts sent after the 15-day window). For pre-amendment conduct, suits already on file may proceed under the older, broader standard; courts have differed.

Oklahoma and Maryland kept the disjunctive: under 15 O.S. § 775C.3(A) and Md. Com. Law § 14-4502(a)(3), an automated system for the selection or dialing of numbers triggers the written-consent requirement — no random-or-sequential-generator element at all. No appellate court has authoritatively construed how far “automated system” reaches beyond the federal ATDS definition, so these statutes may cover list-based and predictive dialing that federal law leaves alone; courts have not settled the boundary — ask counsel.

Florida: The Template

Florida gets the full treatment at Florida telemarketing laws; the short version: under Fla. Stat. § 501.059(1)(g), valid consent is a signed written agreement clearly authorizing automated or recorded sales calls to a specified number, with a disclosure that signing is not a condition of purchase (e-signatures count), and the § 501.059(10) private right pays the greater of $500 or actual damages, trebled up to $1,500 for willful or knowing violations.

Two things commonly get misfiled under the FTSA. The 8 a.m.–8 p.m. window and 3-call/24-hour cap actually live in the Florida Telemarketing Act, § 501.616(6), enforced primarily by FDACS and the Attorney General — the FTSA's $500 private right attaches to § 501.059 violations. And Florida runs its own FDACS Do Not Call list, separate from the national registry: solicitors must screen against the current quarterly listing (consumer registration is free), and FDACS can impose civil penalties of up to $10,000 per violation.

Texas: Registration, a Combined List, and SB 140

Texas polices outbound calling through three chapters, covered in depth at Texas telemarketing laws. Chapter 302 requires a registration certificate per business location before soliciting from Texas or to a purchaser located in Texas — a $200 filing fee plus $10,000 in security, renewed annually; knowingly soliciting without it is a Class A misdemeanor, each violation a separate offense, alongside civil penalties of up to $5,000 per violation. Chapter 304 runs a combined no-call list — state registrants plus the Texas slice of the national registry — republished quarterly, with a 60-day rule: no calls to a number more than 60 days after it appears.

The realistic private hook is § 305.053: anyone who receives a communication violating 47 U.S.C. § 227, an FCC regulation under it, or the Texas chapter may sue for the greater of $500 per violation or actual damages, increased up to the greater of $1,500 or treble actual damages for knowing conduct. (Chapter 304's own no-call action is heavily conditioned — second violation, prior notice, verified complaint within 30 days, 120 days of agency inaction — so do not model it as a $500-per-call remedy.) SB 140, effective September 1, 2025, folded text and image messages into “telephone solicitation” and made no-call violations Deceptive Trade Practices Act violations — for conduct on or after that date only. One caution: chapters 302–305 set no general voice-call curfew; Texas hour limits live in separate provisions — see calling hours by state.

Oklahoma, Maryland, Connecticut, Washington, Virginia

The table carries the windows, caps, and damages; here is what it can't hold:

Oklahoma has two regimes — do not merge them. The 2022 Telephone Solicitation Act (15 O.S. §§ 775C.1–775C.6) carries the consent trigger, area-code presumption, private right, and 26 exemptions; the older Telemarketer Restriction Act (15 O.S. § 775B.3) has the Attorney General run a separate state DNC registry covering calls and texts, and the § 775C private right does not attach to § 775B registry violations.

Maryland's Stop the Spam Calls Act reaches calls, texts, and voicemail alike. Enforcement runs through the Maryland Consumer Protection Act — civil penalties up to $10,000 for a first violation and $25,000 for repeats under that act, plus a private action for actual damages and attorney's fees; the telemarketing subtitle itself sets no fixed statutory damages.

Connecticut makes PEWC the default but carves out consumer inquiries, purchasers within the prior 12 months, existing customers absent an opt-out, B2B contacts, and noncommercial calls. Its state list is, by statute, the National DNC Registry — and PEWC is required to telemarket to any mobile number not on it.

Washington violations are per se Consumer Protection Act violations on top of the fine, and the private action requires repeated violations, at $1,000 per individual violation — not a Florida-style per-call right.

Virginia requires honoring the national registry with a version no more than 31 days old — it keeps no separate state registry — and its Attorney General can seek up to $5,000 per violation on top of the tiered private damages.

The Registration States: Arizona and New Jersey

Arizona imposes no autodialer-consent standard, hours, or frequency cap beyond federal law. Its regime is registration: a verified statement filed with the Secretary of State before soliciting from or into Arizona (annual, expiring June 30), a $100,000 surety bond, and a 3-business-day consumer cancellation right, enforced by the Attorney General. Arizona treats unregistered telephone solicitation as a criminal offense (reported as a class 5 felony).

New Jersey requires annual registration with the Division of Consumer Affairs, may require a bond of not less than $25,000, and builds its state no-call list from the FTC's national registry. It adds a 30-second identification rule, a 9 p.m.–8 a.m. no-call window — and one standout, N.J.S.A. 56:8-130's outright ban on unsolicited telemarketing sales calls to cell phones. Violations draw Consumer Fraud Act penalties up to $10,000 for a first offense and $20,000 after, with a written-procedures safe harbor; there is no express private right, and CFA suits require an ascertainable loss.

State Do-Not-Call Registries Stack on Top

Industry compliance charts, current as of late 2025, list eleven states operating their own do-not-call registries in addition to the national list: Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Texas — treat that roster as a starting point and confirm on each state's official portal. Connecticut's and New Jersey's statutory lists are defined as, or built from, the national registry; Virginia points entirely to it; and Wyoming — which several charts still list as an own-registry state — officially directs consumers to the national registry instead. Access fees are published on each state's portal; the only statutory caps verified here are Texas's ($75 per list distribution to telemarketers; consumer registration capped at $3, free online), while Florida's FDACS sells its quarterly list "for a fee" set administratively.

Running One Program Under Nine Rulebooks

The operational translation is shorter than the statutes:

Set each campaign's window to the strictest state on its list — 8 p.m. cutoffs for Florida, Oklahoma, Maryland, and Washington; a 9 a.m. start for Connecticut.

Cap attempts at three per 24 hours on the same subject wherever Florida, Oklahoma, or Maryland numbers appear.

Build consent records to the Florida definition — signed, number-specific, with the not-a-condition-of-purchase disclosure — and they travel well in the "or" states.

Scrub state lists, not just the national registry, through a third-party service before any list touches a dialer — the area-code presumptions mean a 954 or 405 number is presumed in-state.

Keep your master suppression file outside the dialer and re-apply it to every new campaign.

Enzo's part is deliberately narrow: campaign scheduling holds whatever window you give each campaign, and campaign-level internal DNC keeps a marked contact out of that campaign — per-campaign only; marks do not carry across campaigns, and Enzo does not scrub against national or state registries. The dialer itself is compliant as a tool; whether your calling program is compliant depends on your lists, your records, and the windows you set.

See how campaign scheduling and per-campaign DNC handle a multi-state list — book a free discovery call.

Not legal advice. This guide is general information for outbound calling teams, not legal advice. Rules change and apply differently by state, industry, and call type — confirm your program with qualified telemarketing compliance counsel.

State statutes cited inline — Fla. Stat. §§ 501.059, 501.616; Tex. Bus. & Com. Code chs. 302–305 and SB 140 (2025); 15 O.S. §§ 775B–775C; Md. Com. Law §§ 14-4501–14-4503; Conn. Gen. Stat. §§ 42-284, 42-288a; RCW 80.36.390; Va. Code §§ 59.1-510 to 59.1-518; A.R.S. §§ 44-1271 to 44-1278; N.J.S.A. 56:8-119 to 56:8-135 — as of July 2026. Educational only, not legal advice.